DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- Claims 1-24, drawn to a processor with control logic configuring to grant or deny request to enter hardware-debug-test mode and microcode mode, classified in class 713, subclass 200.
- II. Claims 27-28, 32-34 and 45-46, drawn to modifying microcode mode status, classified in class 712, subclass 248.
- III. Claims 25-26, 29-31, 36-40, 43-44, and 47-52 drawn to determining and changing hardware-debug-test mode status, classified in class 712, subclass 229.
- IV. Claims 35, 41-42 and 53, drawn to a processor comprising hardwaredebug-test enable bits and microcode loader enable bits, classified in class 713, subclass 1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because group I does not require modifying mode status. The subcombination has separate utility such as modifying microcode mode status.

- 3. Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because group I does not require determining and changing a hardware-debug-test mode status. The subcombination has separate utility such as determining and changing a hardware-debug-test mode status.
- 4. Inventions I and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because group IV does not require granting or denying access request. The subcombination has separate utility such as a processor with control logic configuring to grant or deny request to enter hardware-debug-test mode and microcode mode.
- 5. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as determining and modifying a hardware-debug-test mode status. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

- 6. Inventions II and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as processor comprising hardware-debug-test enable bits and microcode loader enable bits. See MPEP § 806.05(d).
- 7. Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as processor comprising hardware-debug-test enable bits and microcode loader enable bits. See MPEP § 806.05(d).
- 8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
- 9. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
